PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Written by Valentino Migliaccio

Adelaide City's capabilities when our junior arm is aligned with the entire football club is not only pleasing, it shows that when we work a little harder, unity and wellbeing is at the forefront.

Some of our youngest girls and boys, supported by their families, became mini chaperones for our men's and women's teams during a double header at our last home game at Oakden.

It was pleasing and memorable. And it's these little details that count.

The children walking out with our senior teams before facing Metro United and MetroStars respectively signalled that we're slowly rebuilding bridges to becoming a stronger community club with football at the fore. One of our volunteers Loretta Fantasia helped put this event together at short notice.

The children seemingly enjoyed themselves during the pre-game walk out and later playing a football game on the grass pitch during a break. The children's' presence during our premium WNPL and NPL match was a reminder that our juniors play a huge part in the long-term future of this club.

And our women's football director Liz Zikos taking charge and inviting our WNPL side to the club's 'corporate box' post game was also a wonderful experience as our side crowded into shelter, they bonded, ate, drank and were presented the player of the match award. It was a brief gathering but a reminder that we are one huge club and women's senior coach Tiarn Powell bravely pushed past the pain barrier to join us despite breaking her arm in a training accident a day earlier.

I welcome more of the same upbeat vibes from those who want to lead by example but at the same time embracing the direction of this great football club. Take on the initiative to become closer to the people of this club that are volunteers and have a myriad of jobs to do in all areas as we look to rebuild the community spirit via football. Have empathy for those who are working hard in the background, support them at the very least morally.

Everyone involved at this club is valued.

It's the simple things, the reminders as to why this club has survived for 77 years. Become selfless, take a good look at where we're headed and what you can do to make this club a better place.

I am grateful for what we have achieved at this club.

Searching for solutions to becoming better is what will keep the positive attitude continuing. If you can't see it now, you will in time, as we're edging closer to the club's first real glimpse of football opportunities presented to Adelaide City's juniors via our Atalanta BC affiliation.

It's a snapshot of the future.

$50 CLUB CASH BACK

Salena Estate Wines is proud to announce a cash back deal which will help raise money for the junior arm of the Adelaide City Football Club's boys' and girls' teams. For every case of wine sold Salena Estate Wines will donate $50 to Adelaide City's junior arm.

Every case of wine sold will benefit all of Adelaide City's boys and girls as the club looks to regenerate its junior sector with a sponsorship that takes care of children.

MINIMUM ORDER = 1 CASE OF WINE

2020 Ink Series Vermentino - Price: $180 per dozen (RRP $300)

A popular Italian white varietal. Serve chilled; the palate is light and delicious, with subtle texture, lively acidity and a crisp finish.

2021 Twisted Sticks Organic Rosé - Price: $180 per dozen (RRP $300)

Serve chilled; a finely structured palate with balanced honey and strawberry fruit and crisp acidity.

2022 Ink Series Sangiovese - Price: $240 per dozen (RRP $360)

This light bodied Italian wine is a great food wine – savory and complex with heady sour cherry fruit and palate soft tannins. A multiple gold medal winner. Limited stocks available.

2018 Ink Series Mourvedre - Price: $180 per dozen (RRP $300)

Originating from the coast of Spain. Spectacular, complex and a little wild sometimes, always on the rustic side with savoury notes.

CITY WOMEN WITH LIZ ZIKOS

Written by Liz Zikos

Mini Roos is designed for kids of all abilities, aged four to 11 years.

The nation-wide initiative uses short, game-based sessions to introduce the sport of football to newcomers in an inclusive way.

It focuses on learning new skills, being active, making life-long friends and, potentially, unearthing the next generation of Socceroos or Matildas.

After months of training, our Mini Roos under 7, 9 and 11 girls finally kicked off their season last weekend.

I personally had the privilege of refereeing the under 7 girls and witness them enjoying their first game in a tightly contested 3-2 victory.

The girls are coached by Zamba Omba who unfortunately suffered an anterior cruciate ligament knee injury last season.

Zamba travels from Gawler via public transport for training and games and we are lucky to have such a dedicated volunteer at Adelaide City.

When I took on the role as the club's women's football director one of my goals was to grow our junior girl's numbers.

Next season we hope to have two teams in each age group, but to do this we also need to increase the number of coaches we have and is by far our biggest challenge, but a challenge I am willing to take on for the betterment of Adelaide City.

CITY MEN WITH ANGE CARROZZA

Written by Angelo Carrozza

Welcome to Adelaide City Park.

It's been a mad schedule with our NPL men's side playing four times in the space of two weeks.

While results haven't fallen our way, the group are in good spirits and know that wins are about to come thick and fast.

We welcome Croydon Kings to Oakden and former Adelaide City players Travis Dodd (Croydon senior coach), Rob Saraceno (assistant) and director Mark Brazzale for our Round 11 clash.

Our reserve men's side has been playing some quality football, while not coming away with the three points too often, the number of players making their way to the NPL squad is commendable to the coaching staff.

Meanwhile our very young Under 18s are sitting pretty on the top of the league ladder.

So much to like about the future of our up-and-coming stars.

Our Mini Roos commenced their season at our junior campus on Unley Road.

There are lots of positives to be taken from our junior boys and girls under the guidance of our coaches and coordinators.

We look forward to tracking their progress throughout the season.

MATTHEW'S JOURNEY IN FOOTBALL

Written by Matthew Dawber

I started my Adelaide City journey in under 13s playing under club legend Damian Mori in 2010.

Many moons have passed since then and I finally returned to the Black and Whites last season.

Wow to describe last season in words is impossible, there is not enough superlatives to describe how last season went.

The squad was simply ineffable.

Last season we were fortunate enough to win the treble.

Everything there was to be won in SA football was achieved in one season.

This season we hope to repeat that feat and push on to go even further in the Australia Cup.

Speaking of the Australia Cup what a banger I scored last season to send us to penalties against Adelaide United.

The game had an amazing atmosphere which was driven by you, the fans of this great club.

A little bit about me outside of football:
 - I am a dedicated schoolteacher that loves to put smiles on everyone's face.
 - I am currently growing my hair out to raise money for the World's Greatest Shave next year.

I am also a big fan of AFL. I go for the Adelaide Crows and everyone who plays against Port Adelaide lol.

Thanks for coming to today's game, three points is what we need.

I am honoured to play for this club, hopefully we can get the result today.

ERIC FANTASIA'S CITY BUZZ

Written by Eric Fantasia

April was another great month.

We continued with our very popular theme nights at the juniors grounds in Unley, on Thursdays. Feedback has been positive and we plan to introduce some on Wednesday nights as well.

We had wine tastings by Salena Estate, and if you haven't tried these wines, do yourselves a favour and get onto it in future. An added benefit is that for every carton sold, $50 is donated back to Junior Football.

Comedy night was fantastic, and lots of laughs were had by all, so thank you to those of you supported the event.

The team is always looking for new ideas, so if you have something that you'd like to try, please reach out, and we'll see if we can make it happen.

Have a terrific month, and keep your eye out for more exciting events.

WNPL COACH'S MESSAGE

Written by Tiarn Powell

Spending more than six months now in a senior coaching role at Adelaide City has for me made me very thankful about the journey I have started.

Only starting to coach full time a few years ago going through the coaching licences has been very rewarding.

I am currently completing my A-Licence and lucky enough to have a FIFA scholarship where I have an overseas mentor who can share her knowledge of the game and provide me with support on an ongoing basis.

Being a female coach in this game is at times and few and far between however for me one which I am proud to be on and look forward to the future in female football.

ATALANTA BC COORDINATORS UPDATE

Written by Tony Finamore

The Atalanta BC clinic at Adelaide City's junior headquarters begin next week.

The clinic provides training for young football players and will be held every Friday from May 12 to May 26. The training sessions will take place at the Unley grounds on pitch 1, in front of the Unley Road clubrooms, from 5.30pm to 6.30 pm. The clinic has already secured 55 players between the ages of 12 and 17, with both girls and boys participating. However, the coordinators believe this is just the beginning of what the future holds for the clinic. To make the clinic even more enjoyable, the organisers have teamed up with the events committee to provide a free sausage and bread for each player after training. Each player will receive a ticket to present at the canteen to get their food.

To ensure easy identification of players during the training sessions, the organisers have purchased 60 numbered bibs in three different colours. The bibs will feature the Adelaide City and Atalanta BC logos printed on the front.

All sessions will be recorded for Domenico Gangemi – the head of Atalanta BC's Oceania affiliation to review and provide feedback to the coordinators. This information is essential to the clinic's progress. The Atalanta BC clinic is a great opportunity for young football players to develop their skills and grow as athletes. The clinic offers expert training from experienced coaches and provides an environment that is both supportive and challenging. Participants in the Atalanta BC clinic can expect to improve their ball control, passing accuracy, and agility, among other skills. The clinic's coaches will use drills and exercises to help players build their confidence, develop their game sense, and improve their teamwork.

Overall, the Atalanta BC clinic is a fantastic opportunity for young football players to take their skills to the next level. With expert coaching, supportive teammates, and a challenging environment, the clinic promises to be an unforgettable experience for all involved.

Adelaide City is still looking for young players in the 13's, 14's, 15's, and 16's age groups. If you or someone you know is interested in playing soccer this year, please get in touch with Rick Petropoulos at the club's juniors' headquarters during weekdays.

Don't miss out on the opportunity to be a part of a supportive and challenging team environment and develop your skills as a soccer player.

SOPHIE'S JOURNEY IN FOOTBALL

Written by Sophie Leszczynski

I come from a very football-oriented family.

My father and his three brothers have been involved in the game their entire lives, playing and winning championships together in Tasmania, and making the Leszczynski family name very well known in the state.

I've grown up watching my father play and believe it or not, he has spent most of his career as a striker.

As a defender, I obviously don't take after him in that regard, but he is the reason I fell in love with football in the first place, and his continued support of my footballing journey is second to none.

My footballing journey began in Tasmania when I was five, playing for a school team dominated by boys, before going into state and NTC programs from age 12 onwards. When the NTC program in Tasmania went part time in 2017, we had to start playing for a club and a lot of the girls ended up at Olympia FC Warriors, where I would be for the next four years.

During my time at the club, I made my senior women's debut at 15 in a championship-winning side and captained our under 17 girls' team at the Dallas International Girls' Cup, where I was the Australian flag bearer at the opening ceremony.

In my last year at the club in 2020, we won the WNPL, I was named in the team of the year, and I got to play alongside my younger sister for the first time in senior women's football.

I made the move to SA for university, but also to be challenged football-wise.

I remember trialing with a few different clubs at the beginning of 2021 and being drawn to Adelaide City.

The professional environment, quality training sessions, the club's history, and the experience of players I would have the opportunity to train and play with – it was really the only choice.

Now into my third season at the club, I have grown so much as a player and person, and I owe a lot of that to the girls I share the field with.

Although results haven't gone our way so far, I'm still so excited to see us grow as a team, and there's truly no place I'd rather be.

THE ART OF PROTEST

Written by Vanessa Lucchesi

If you're on #SokkahTwitter, you'll see that the recent discourse has been dominated by the topic of boycotting the A-League Men Grand Final which is to take place in Sydney after the Australian Professional Leagues (APL) announced the decision last December. Rightfully so, many clubs, players, and supporters were appalled and began a boycott, walking out at the 20th minute of games. This momentum, however, was stunted after the actions at the Melbourne Derby where a pitch invasion took place and several people, notably City keeper Tom Glover, were injured. But now as the Grand Final nears, talk of boycotts has arisen with renewed vigour and created a Twitter feed of polemics.

It would therefore be remiss of me not to write about the 1961 South Australian Split, an act of protest from a majority of leading ethnic clubs against the established Anglo-Australian governing body.

This Split was no doubt inspired by events from 1957 to 1959 in NSW that became known as the Immigrant Soccer Revolution. Unlike in South Australia, migrant clubs in NSW were not prominent in the First Division due to two policies: the first was that clubs were required to represent a specific district; the second stipulated that matches must be held at a ground of suitable quality. Ethnic clubs struggled with regard to the latter policy as the best grounds were already in the possession of established Anglo-Australian clubs. These two policies antagonised the ethnic clubs that played superior football, but were prohibited from entering the First Division. Furthermore, migrants were dissatisfied with how their clubs had virtually no say in the management of football. Ill-feelings amongst the ethnic clubs towards the administrators reached boiling point in 1957 when Hakoah (the Jewish-based club) was denied promotion to the First Division despite winning the Division Two championship and therefore warranting promotion. This precipitated the formation of a breakaway rival administration and league by Hakoah President, Walter Sternberg, called the New South Wales Federation of Soccer Clubs (NSWFSC). Various Anglo-Australian clubs that were aware of the strength and passion of ethnic clubs consequently joined the NSWFSC. It was the first national example of ethnic clubs challenging the Anglo-Australian bureaucracy by pioneering the formation of breakaway associations. Similar events occurred in Western Australia in 1960 and Queensland in 1961.

At the Annual General meeting of the South Australia Soccer Football Association (SASFA), prior to the 1961 season, leading ethnic clubs proposed several alterations to the rules which were rejected by clubs from the lower divisions. Representatives of the ethnic teams, incensed at the decision, walked out of the meeting and started the new South Australian Federation of Soccer Clubs. In the new league were seven ethnic clubs (Beograd, Budapest, Croatia, Juventus, Lion, Orange, and Polonia) and one Australian team (Cumberland). They claimed that they should be entitled to greater voting power as they had the largest following and contributed more to the game than minor clubs. The new Federation believed themselves to be a truly democratic institution. In the Editor's Foreword of the Federation's 1963 Handbook, Antonio Giordano (an Italian migrant and founding-council member of the Federation) praised the 'truly democratic' rules which 'eliminate[d] once and for all the dictatorial idea on "government from the top"'.

Monopoly of power and control, now in the hands of the clubs, was considered to be the 'only way to progress efficiently, satisfactorily and harmoniously towards the establishment of our game as THE football game nationally played in every corner of the Commonwealth.' New rules were drawn up by the Federation which granted significant power to the clubs, namely Clause 27 which announced that 'The control business and affairs of the Federation shall be under the management of the Council of Clubs.' In other words, power to the people.

Ultimately, the Federation proved to be unrivalled in its appeal and its high standard of play, with the majority of spectators watching their games at Thebarton Oval, whereas only a handful frequented Hindmarsh for SASFA games. By 1962, the two bodies had amalgamated to create the South Australian Soccer Federation Incorporated (SASF). Though there is no definitive document that clarifies the reasons for the merger, it is safe to assume that the survival of the old SASFA depended on the power and popularity of the newly established Federation of Clubs.

Many years have elapsed since the South Australian Split, and the football landscape has changed dramatically since the days of old. However, the one thing that has persisted is the theme of how football in this country should be administered, and opinions range from conservative to revolutionary. I doubt whether we will all agree on everything about the running of our game, but if we are to learn anything from our past, it is this: a governing body deciding the rules and making decisions without the input or consideration from clubs, players, and fans will go down like a lead balloon.

"History never repeats itself, but it does often rhyme."

- 1 Juventus team in 1961
- 2 Antonio Giordano was a keen promoter of sports and social activities for the Italian community. He was later made a life member of Adelaide Juventus in recognition of his contribution to the club
- 3 Excerpt from the 1963 SASF Incorporated Handbook, by this point the SA two rival bodies had amalgamated.

WHO ARE WE

Known as the Zebras, Adelaide City is a football club based in Adelaide, South Australia.

The club played in the National Soccer League (NSL) for 27 seasons.

We now play in the South Australian National Premier League (NPL SA).

City was founded and is primarily followed by people of Italian heritage, originally called Juventus from 1946 to 1966.

In 1966 we became Adelaide Juventus, and in 1977 Adelaide City, when Frank Lister captained the team in the inaugural Phillips NSL competition.

The club is one of the biggest across the NPL in Australia and arguably the most prominent in South Australia.

Several past and present players, coaches, and administrators of the Black and White have been inducted into the Football South Australia Hall of Fame.

Our impact also extends to the national stage. We have provided a pathway for several past and present Socceroos, Matildas, and a plethora of the best players to play in national competitions across Australia.

Adelaide City also boasts a strong women's program. We pride ourselves on offering the best facilities, quality coaching, and dedicated volunteers for all of our junior and senior programs.
